Vepco Plans To Begin Monthly Billing

Virginia Electric and Power Company has announced plans to begin billing all of its residential customers based on monthly meter readings.

Vepco now bills most residential customers based on meter readings taken every two months. For alternate months, bills are estimated which customers may pay at their option. The new system of monthly bills based on monthly meter readings will require monthly payments.

Vepco Vice President W. W. Berry said the company will begin the monthly meter readings in two stages. The first stage, beginning April 1, will include customers in the company's eastern, southern and western divisions. He pointed out that this first phase would include all of Vepco's customers in North Carolina and West Virginia.

Beginning in November, according to Mr. Berry, residential customers in the company's central and northern divisions will be billed based on monthly meter readings.

Monthly billing should enable customers to budget more accurately and eliminate any confusion which now exists about the interim billing program, according to Mr. Berry. He said at present, about 60 per cent of Vepco's customers are paying the estimated bill.

Mr. Berry pointed out the new program will require the hiring of more than 200 new employees and will cost the company an additional $3.3 million per year. He added, however, that the net effect on the company will be less than this because the new billing program will improve cash flow.

"Interim billing, which was initiated by Vepco in 1970, worked well during periods of stable costs," Mr. Berry said, "But in today's climate of changing consumption patterns and rising costs, some customer confusion has resulted."

"Although each monthly bill the customer receives under the new program must be paid, the program will provide accurate bills each month for the actual amount of electricity used," he concluded. "In the future, estimates will be made only in unusual circumstances."

PORK PICKIN'S Appomattox Pork Producers

The Appomattox Pork Producers will hold a dinner meeting on Friday, Feb. 21st at 7 p.m. at Maude's Restaurant. The meeting is very important to the membership and all are urged to attend. There will be a speaker as well as the regular business meeting.

* * *

The Piedmont Pork Producers held their annual Swine School last week at Buckingham High School. The attendance was very good and the meeting was generally interesting.

* * *

The Piedmont Pork Producers and South Central Feeder Pig Association will again sponsor a Crossbred Gilt Sale this year at Farmville Livestock Market. The sale will be held at 7 p.m. on March 26, 1975.

* * *

The Feeder Pig prices have increased somewhat in the past several weeks. On last Thursday at Farmville, 1592 pigs were sold with a top price of 68½ cents per lb. I believe this sale exhibited the greatest spread in prices between grades to my knowledge. USDA graded #4 pigs sold for 49 cents a pound less than number ones. Proving that quality in a poor feed situation is very, very important.

Red House Senior Bull Sale A Success

The crowd was large despite rainy, cold weather at the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association Performance Tested Bull Sale at Red House Bull Evaluation Center, Red House, Virginia on Sat., Feb. 1. Fifty-One of the 76 Senior bulls that were tested were offered for sale and 46 were sold. The Test and Sale Committee had set a minimum price on each bull offered for sale that was based on performance, individuality, and expected breeding value. Bob Johnson served as auctioneer and the starting point in the auction on each bull was the minimum price.

The 46 bulls selling brought a total of $39,755.00 to average $864.00 per head. The highest selling breed were the 24 Angus bulls which grossed $22,150.00 to average $923.00. The 16 Polled Hereford bulls totaled $13,380.00 to average $836.00. The 4 Charolais bulls grossed $2,475.00 to average $619.00, while 2 Herefords grossed $1,750.00 to average $875.00.

The top selling bull in the auction was Lot 1, Angus, consigned by Floyd Dominy of White Post, Va. This bull with a 1094 pound yearling weight sold at $2,100.00 to Kyanite Mining Corp. at Pamplin, Va. Kyanite also claimed the second highest selling bull, a Polled Hereford, Lot 114 consigned by James Bennett at Red House for $2,000.00. George Johnstone of Wytheville claimed Lot 10, Angus, consigned by Alphine Farms of Buchanan, Virginia for $1,750.00. General John Albert of Monroe, Va. paid $1,175.00 to own Lot 12, a top performing Emulous bull from Alphine Farms also. The top selling Hereford bull, Lot 101, consigned by Cobbler Mountain Farm at Delaplane, Va. was purchased by C. C. Amanson of Lincolnton, Ga., for $1,050.00. The top Charolais bull, Lot 182, consigned by M. B. Walker of Blackstone, Va. was purchased by Piedmont Farms at Keysville, Va. for $750.00. Lot 123, the second high selling Polled Hereford at $1,050.00 was consigned by Dwight Houff of Mt. Sidney, Va. and purchased by W. T. Epps of Halifax, Va.

The group of Senior bulls was the best performing single group of bulls ever tested at a central test station through the Virginia BCIA program in Virginia. The 76 bulls tested had an average 365 day weight of 978 and a 140 day feedlot gain test average daily gain of 3.02. The 51 bulls offered for sale had a average 365 day weight of 997 and a average daily gain on test of 3.12.

This is the third year of operation for the Red House Bull Evaluation Center under the sponsorship of the Virginia Beef Cattle Improvement Association.

The second sale of performance tested bulls at Red House is scheduled to be held on Sat., Mar. 1st, at 12:30 p.m. There will be about 45 of the top performing bulls from the Junior test group that will be sold at this time. Also the 17th Annual Performance Tested Bull Sale at Culpeper will be held on Fri., March 7th. In this Culpeper sale, there will be approximately 110 of the top performers from the Culpeper test offered for sale at auction.

Anyone interested in further information and catalogs for the March 1st sale at Red House or the March 7th sale at Culpeper should contact the Virginia Angus Association, Sale Manager, 909 Landonia Circle, Charlottesville, Va. or the Virginia BCIA, Agnew Hall, VPI & SU, Blacksburg, Va. 24061.
